

授業科目名 ( 英文名 )	英語表現 (A)(GLEPのみ) (English Presentation Skills)	科目区分 対象学生
単位数	1.00	開講年次・ 学期	1年次・後期
担当教員	Glenn Brown	所属	非常勤講師
オフィス・場所		連絡先
講義目的及び到達目標	This course introduces you to the art and science of presentation. You will learn the basics of presentation design and delivery; crafting your message, creating visuals that support your argument, and developing your own style of engagement with the audience on important ideas.
講義内容・授業計画	We will discuss the principles of effective presentation and put these principles into action with actual presentation practice. Presentation skills and techniques to be covered include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>* Developing presentation content</li> <li>*Gathering and writing up information</li> <li>*Reporting and presenting research findings</li> <li>*Using text and graphics to communicate ideas</li> <li>*Engaging with your audience</li> <li>*Managing a Q &amp; A session</li> </ul> The course ends with a three-week final public symposia series in which you will have the opportunity to present on your own research topic.
テキスト	Course materials supplied by instructor
参考文献
成績評価の基準・方法	Attendance, homework and other out-of-class assignments, contribution to class activities and projects, and your performance in the final public symposia series
履修上の注意・履修要件	Note: Only students signed up for the Global Unit can take this course. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>・ In principle, all classes will be conducted face-to-face. As a countermeasure against Covid-19 infection, there is also a method of dividing the students into multiple classrooms and connecting the classrooms online. You may need a communication environment (terminals such as PCs and tablets and Wi-Fi environment) that allows you to watch online classes at home.</li> </ul> The class method will be decided and contacted after registration.
実践的教育	N/A
備考			